Apple Polishing, Wits Sharpening, on 'Day's Program

1,200,000 of Illinois Youngsters Return to Classes Tuesday

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29—(AP)—It's time again for Illinois school kids to polish up their apples and sharpen their pencils and wits.

The school bell will call about 1,250,000 public elementary and high school children back to their desks next week for their annual bout with the textbooks. Most classes open Tuesday.

In many ways, though, that bout may not be unpleasant. The state school superintendent's office says textbooks are becoming more attractive. They are better illustrated and have more color.

Curricula have fattened considerably since the days when grandpa dipped grandma's pigtail in the inkwell, and school officials say the added courses have made

Grandmother Tells Details of Murder

Chicago, Aug. 29 —(AP)— A short, plump 54-year-old grandmother remained in jail today after, police said, she had given them a detailed statement of how she had beaten her husband to death with a hammer, dismembered his body with a hacksaw and knife and had thrown the pieces into the Chicago river.

Police said that the statement by Mrs. Anna Sosnowski and her subsequent reenactment of the slaying last Sunday of her husband, Anthony, 58, solved the mystery in connection with the finding on Tuesday of parts of a man's body in the river.

After relating details of the gruesome slaying, the neatly dressed gray-haired woman went with police and state's attorney's officials to the North Avenue bridge of the river and pointed out where she had disposed of the body.

Police said she had told her statement that after beating her husband to death after he attacked her, she used a hacksaw and a knife in carving up his body. Then she wrapped the pieces in several bundles and made several trips from her northwest side apartment to the river a mile away.

Head and Torso Missing

Two of the parcels, containing the hands, feet and other portions of a man's body have been found, but the slain man's head and torso still are missing.

"I'm not sorry he's dead, the dog", Mrs. Sosnowski replied in answer to a question if she was sorry. "That man, he beat me. I've been black and blue for weeks from some of the beatings he's given me

"He died like a dog and I'll die like a dog".

Turning to Samuel Papanek, assistant state's attorney, and peering into the river, she said: "I'd be better off if I jumped in there too".

Police said that Mrs. Sosnowski, although sobbing at times, calmly told details of the slaying. "I figured it was him or me and kept hitting him until he was dead", she said.

An inquest was scheduled to be held this afternoon after which the state's attorney's office was to present the case to the grand jury. No formal charge has been placed against Mr. Sosnowski.

May, 2nd, of Arlington, Va., whose bodies were found in a clump of bushes here yesterday. Both had been shot through the head. The May automobile, its interior blood spattered, was found elsewhere in the city.

'Tame' Atomic Bomb Developed by AEC To Get Useful Energy

New Type of Chain Reaction Will Utilize "Fast" Neutrons

Los Alamos, N. M., Aug. 29 —(AP)— The development of a "tame" atomic bomb for research into ways to get useful power from nuclear fission was announced today by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Instead of a devastating blast, the toned-down bomb produces a steady output of fast neutrons, needed for experiments to determine what kind of chain reaction is best for practical power purposes.

It is a new type of chain reaction plant or "pile" utilizing high energy neutrons for atomic fission of plutonium. The commission's announcement described it as in a sense "a controlled version of the atomic bomb itself".

Dr. Norris E. Bradbury, director of the commission's Los Alamos scientific laboratory, said the new unit has been in successful operation at low power since November, 1946.

Declaring the reactor gives a more intense source of "fast neutrons" than physicists heretofore have been able to obtain, except during the brief time of the test of the first A-bomb in New Mexico in July, 1945, Bradbury said.

"It is hoped that such a source will make possible the study of fast neutron chain reactions in more detail, and thus be another step toward finding the best type of chain reactor for the production of useful power.

First to Use Fast Units

The Atomic Energy Commission's release on the subject said:

"It is the first (pile) to employ the fission of the man-made element plutonium, instead of normal uranium and it is the first

City of 5,000 Is Sans Light, Power

Boonville, Ind., Aug. 29 -(AP)—Gasoline engines from a strip coal mine furnished emergency power today to Boonville's water system after a boiler explosion demolished the $300,000 city-owned power and light plant and injured two firemen.

City councilmen in emergency session sought other sources of electricity as power plant officials reported that it might be weeks before they could have generators going.

The entire city of 5,000 was without lights or electric power. Heavy loss of perishable foodstuffs was threatened. Councilmen said it was especially urgent to obtain power for an ice plant, a creamery, a frozen food storage plant, and a large chicken hatchery.

United States Calls for Action To Give Korea Independence

Note to Moscow Insists Stalemate Can Not Be Continued

Washington, Aug. 29 —(AP)— The United States called today for a four-power conference to speed Korean independence.

The request was made in a new note to Moscow saying that the present deadlock on a joint Russian-American commission to arrange for a provisional government can not, in this country's opinion, continue.

"The United States government can not in good conscience be a party to any such delay in the fullfilment of its committment to Korean independence and proposes that the four powers adhering to the Moscow agreement meet to consider how that agreement may be speedily carried out", the note said.

It suggested that conversations on the problem begin Sept. 8. Nations participating in the Moscow conference on Korea were the United States, Britain, Russia and China.

Simultaneously, the state department disclosed a summary of proposals by this country for Korea's future.

They include the American suggestion for a general Korean election which has been rejected by Russia.

Contest Reds' Claim

The U. S. note said the Soviet claim that it has the right to exclude some Korean political parties from participating in the decisions on Korea's future is "contrary to the democratic principle of freedom of opinion".

"For almost two years the government of the United States has devoted its utmost efforts to carrying out the terms of the Mos-

Jury Fails to Indict Writer for Treason

New York, Aug. 29—(AP)—A New York Federal grand jury has refused to return an indictment on treason charges against Edward Leo Delaney, 61, a writer and radio publicist, who was arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents Aug. 8 on his return to the United States.

Assistant U. S. Attorney General Raymond Whearty said that Delaney, a native of Olney, Ill., had been indicted four years ago for treason by a Washington, D. C., jury on charges of allegedly making broadcasts in behalf of the German propaganda ministry.

Under federal law, Americans accused of treason must be indicted and prosecuted in the jurisdiction of the federal court in which they first land upon returning to this country. Delaney landed in New York, and the case subsequently was transferred to federal court here.

The New York jury, however, refused yesterday to support the Washington indictment, and Delaney was released from custody. Federal officials said they believed the Washington indictment now would be dismissed.

Delaney's attorney said his client had been prevented by American authorities in Europe from returning to the United States for about two years. He said Delaney "finally insisted upon returning to this country to face the charges against him, which he knew could not be sustained."

Baltimore, Aug. 29—(AP)—Mrs. Jaannette Smith watched happily yesterday when a paperhanger walked in and started to redecorate her living room

He was halfway through when the landlady appeared and told him he was in the wrong house He was supposed to be next door.

The paperhanger picked up and left Mrs. Smith looking at walls with two patterns of paper.

She appealed to Magistrate August Kozlovsky who said he will try next Tuesday to work out an agreement whether more paper goes up, the misplaced comes down or Mrs. Smith remains with her unique half-and-half scheme.

Dixon Plane Used in Producing Rain on Soybean Field

A man-made shower of 20 minutes duration fell over soybean fields on the M. S. Wooster farm near Lyndon yesterday afternoon after Harold V. McGinn of Sterling dumped 100 pounds of dry ice into cumulous clouds.

Riding in the Beechcraft plane owned by Dement Schuler of Dixon and piloted by another Dixonite, Walter Thomas, McGinn tossed the ice from a height of about 10,000 feet.

Schuler, McGinn and Thomas could not observe their measure of success from the plane but believed some rain fell.

This morning Schuler said he had been informed of a 20-minute rain over the bean fields in the immediate area of the test. There was no other rain in this part of the state yesterday.

Cabin Door Removed

The atmospheric temperature was nearly freezing when the ice was dumped overboard, Schuler said today. A cabin door was removed from the plane to facilitate the jettisoning.

McGinn, interviewed by a Telegraph reporter before going aloft, indicated there was a possibility other attempts to produce rain will be made soon.

The trio took off from Dixon airport at approximately 3 p. m., arriving back at the field one hour later.

Seek Tieup to 4th Shelbyville Death

Shelbyville, Ill., Aug. 29—(AP)—Shelby county officials today enlisted the aid of the FBI in an effort to connect a fourth slaying with a double killing and suicide in a shooting spree Wednesday night by a young farmer estranged from his 16 year old bride.

Sheriff officials said that Donald Helton, enraged over separation from his bride of five months, Mrs. Jacqueline Helton, shot and killed her in a roller skating rink, and after slaying his father, Earl Helton, 60, at his farm home, committed suicide.

Later the body of William Mogg, 33, was found near the roller skating rink where he was employed and where Helton's wife was slain. About 20 persons, attending a private party witnessed the shooting.

Mogg's throat had been slashed and there was a hole in his head. Sheriff Cecil Clausen said a blood stained trench knife had been found near young Helton's body and the FBI was making tests to determine whether the stains matched blood samples taken from Mogg's body.

Mogg and young Helton had been seen together before the shooting in the rink and officers theorized Mogg may have been killed when he attempted to stop Helton as he left the establishment after slaying his bride and wounding her 12-year-old brother, Walter Knearem, who had gone to the aid of his sister.

State's Attorney Eugene Bland said the shooting at the Helton farm, in which the young farmer also shot his mother, Florence, 59, in the arm and hand, apparently stemmed from quarrels between the father and son over operation of the farm.

Helton's young wife had left him and had filed charges of threat to kill and Bland said they had consulted him on plans for a divorce settlement.

Dutch Will Accept UN Rulings on Indonesia

The Hague, Aug. 29 -(AP)—The Netherlands government announced today it would accept "the general tendency" of United Nations security council resolutions on Indonesia.

The council voted yesterday to extend its good offices and set up a council committee to investigate the differences between the Dutch and the Indonesian republic

The government said it would extend all facilities to consuls at Batavia, Java, to investigate and report the situation in the East Indies since the United Nations cease-fire order became effective at midnight Aug 4.

Both the Dutch and Indonesians have accused the other of violations of the cease-fire order.

National Leaders Urge UMT Program at Legion Confab

Ike, Forrestall, Dewey Join Dewey in Plea For Training

New York, Aug. 29—(AP) —The 29th annual American Legion convention is giving national leaders an opportunity to state their support of universal military training as a means to strengthen the nation's defenses.

Before the delegates turned out of their first convention session last night to see the zany parade of the 40 and 8 society, Legion honor organization, they had heard pleas for peacetime conscription from President Truman; Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; James V. Forrestal, who next month becomes the nation's first secretary of defense, and others.

Another barrage of heavy fuing is due during the late afternoon today, the lineup of speakers including General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff; Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and General Carl A. Spaatz, commanding general, army air force.

Forrestal Favors UMT

Forrestal, last speaker at the opening session yesterday, urged universal military training as necessary to complement the armed forces unification program, under which his new office was created.

Study Rail Employe Pay Boost Demand

Chicago, Aug. 29 —(AP)— A six-man board of arbitration met privately today to prepare findings on the demands of 17 unions of nearly 1,000,000 non-operating employes for a 20 cents an hour wage increase from the nation's railroads.

Before the hearings which began Aug. 4 and ended yesterday the unions and the carriers agreed that the findings of the arbitrators, headed by William M. Leiserson, chairman of the National (Railway) Mediation board, would be binding on both parties.

Final arguments in support of the employes' demands were presented by Lester P. Schoene, attorney for the brotherhoods, who urged that the arbitrators not trim in any way the original 20 cents demand.

Schoene termed the demands "modest" and asserted that they were drafted at a time when it appeared that there might be some relief from high living costs for the nation's workingmen. Since then, he said, "developments have indicated the request was far too low".

E. H. Burgess, counsel for the railroads' joint wage committee told the board at the closing session yesterday that the million men had received two wage increases in the last year and the 20 cent additional increase would boost rail payrolls $566,000,000 annually.

Success

Chicago, Aug. 29—(AP)—Policemen Edward Woodrich and Thomas Kenealy were crowing today over their success in putting a permanent muzzle on a crowing rooster.

After residents in the 100 block on North Sawyer avenue complained to police that they had been awakened at dawn daily by the cock's lusty crowing, Woodrich and Kenealy found the owner, George Smith

Smith didn't protest when the policemen told him he would have to get rid of the rooster as it was illegal to keep it within the city limits. Smith explained the rooster's been a family pet but he was tired of his job of taking care of it For a long time, he told the officers, he's been trying to find an excuse to dispose of the rooster.

Then Smith invited Woodrich and Kenealy to have Sunday dinner with him.

"We're having rooster", Smith winked.

Extradition Papers for Younger Meyers Sought in Capital

Return of Third Defendant in Alleged Fraud Asked by Lee County

Plans to extradite Leroy F. Meyers, indicted Tuesday with his father, William, and Rep. Lyle M. Prescott in connection with Lee county land deals, went ahead today with the announcement that Chief Deputy Sheriff Charles Redebaugh was in Springfield to obtain extradition papers.

State's Attorney Morey C. Pires said this afternoon that he understood the younger Meyers would not waive extradition, and added that Sheriff Gilbert P. Finch or a deputy will probably leave as soon as possible for the coast with the papers.

Meyers has been living in San Diego, Calif., since June.

May Fight Return

Rumors circulated here this morning that word has been received declaring Meyers will fight extradition, but officials here could not verify the report.

Meyers was named in six indictments with his father and Prescott which charged them with conspiracy, operating a confidence game, and obtaining money under false pretenses in attempts to defraud the state in two land deals in which the Latta and Hanson farms were sold to the state Conservation department.

The elder Meyers, placed in the Lee county jail late Tuesday afternoon when he was unable to furnish $10,000, was released yesterday afternoon when Judge Leon A. Zick, Oregon, approved bond for him. His bondsmen are Mrs. Lola Raymond and Chris Johnson, both of Dixon.

Prescott was released on $10,000 surety bond shortly after noon Tuesday.

Given Time for Motions

Both he and William Meyers were allowed until Sept. 26 to file motions to quash the indictments against them.

In a statement released yesterday morning, Prescott charged that he is the victim of a "political frameup", and added that "if this case is ever tried, I assure my friends that I shall be fully vindicated".

They are charged in the indictments with telling a representative of the state department of conservation that the Ltta farm; 240-acres, could be purchased for $20,040 and the Hanson 480-acre farm could be bought for $40,080. The indictments charge that the Lattas and Hansons were only asking $18,000 and $35,000, respectively.

During the grand jury's study of the land deals, which opened Aug. 4, Leroy Meyer sent a statement, reportedly explaining the deals, to Judge George C. Dixon, who later read it to the grand jury when he appeared as a witness.

Contents of the statement have never been divulged, although it has been described as a 6,000 word description of the transactions here and in Ogle county, where 70 acres of land was purchased by the Meyers firm from the J. B. Powell estate and sold to the state a few days later for $200 per acre. The Meyers firm paid $150 per acre for the land.

Marshall Plan May Be UNRRA's Sequel

Washington, Aug. 29 —(AP)— President Truman expressed hope today that the Marshall plan for European self-help will successfully supplant direct aid of the type provided by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

In a letter transmitting to congress his report on UNRRA's winding up operations during the first quarter of this year, Truman said:

"Long-term plans have been inaugurated by our government under which it is hoped that devastated countries will achieve economic health through cooperation among themselves and with such long-range help as the United States is able to give under proper arrangements."

Truman's letter said the end of UNRRA's operations "has been in sight for several months." It noted that while contributions of the other 47 participating countries may be used for the rest of 1947 and into 1948, funds donated by the United States contribution could not be obligated after last June 30, a cut-off date fixed by congress. On that date, Truman added, UNRRA had obligated practically the entire $2,700,000,000 contributed by the United States.

Various United Nations organizations have taken over UNRRA's work.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Wise Words About Work

Scripture: Proverbs 6:6-11; 18:9; 24:30-32; Ecclesiastes 5:12

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

If the world ever needed a lesson concerning the basis and necessity of work, it is getting it today. We have a forceful demonstration of what happens when men turn from producing the things that satisfy human need to producing ways of destruction.

The vigorous words, written many hundreds of years ago to describe what happens when men stop working and become sluggards, describe exactly what has happened in the many countries where the masses turned from honest toil, no in this instance to sleep like the sluggard, but to engage in the equally unproductive business of war. To the nonworker, the wise man of Proverbs predicted that "want as an armed man" would come, and that is precisely the situation in the lands stricken by war.

Even in countries like ours, not so seriously stricken by war, we have had ample demonstration of what happens when men stop working. Without attempting to assess the matter of rights and causes, one can point to what happens when trains stop running, when fishermen stop fishing, when steel mills stop producing, when coal miners stop digging, and when building is tied up with strikes and jurisdictional conflicts. Such strikes and lockouts no longer affect only the things that people can do without, but they invade the very basis of living and safety, imperiling the sick, and ham stringing the healthy. Even the automobile that was once a luxury is now, for masses of people, essential in the business of life and earning a living. Regardless of who is to blame, it ought to be evident that when men in any basic industry stop work on a large scale the very fabric of society is endangered.

For one, I am unwilling to follow the simple and easy way of putting all the blame on "labor" Nevertheless, the problems associated with the right not to work have become more emphasized than those which for long have been very properly dominant concerning unemployment and the right to work.

The productive powers of man are so great that if all who are able to work were doing their fair share, and were doing it faithfully and regularly, the resulting resources for the satisfaction of human needs and for the aggrandizement of life would be so great that short hours of labor, with much time for leisure, pleasure, and home-building, would be available for all. But the greatness of this productive power leads men to forget the tragedy that befalls, and now quickly it befalls, when men cease producing at all, or when great numbers of them do.

So, the wise words concerning work are still words of wisdom. And the words of Jesus, above all, are to be remembered, "My Father worketh hitherto: and I work".

PMW Approves Pact Giving Wage Increase

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29—(AP)—Progressive Mine Workers, in an Aug. 19 referendum, approved terms of a new contract providing wage increases of $2.93 to $3.58 a day.

Besides raising wages, the contract doubles the old five per cent per ton royalty for the welfare fund, retains the basic seven hour day, five day week, and calls for travel time payments.

PMW President John McCann said yesterday daily rates range from $12.75 for inside day labor to $16.45 for mechanical loading machine operators, cutting machine operators and helpers. These two classifications formerly received $9.82 and $12.87.

The one year agreement with the Coal Producers association of Illinois is retroactive to July 1, 1947, and remains in effect until June 30, 1948.

Farm Machinery on Display at Big Field Day Sept. 3

Final plans are being made for the regional Pastures Improvement demonstrations to be held on the David Reigle farm, 5½ miles northwest of Dixon next Wednesday. Farm machinery companies including Allis-Chalmers, John Deere, International Harvester, J. I. Case, Minneapolis-Moline, and Seaman Tiller are cooperating with the University Agriculture extension staff, Lee county Farm Bureau and Lee county Soil Conservation district. The latest machines, as well as those found on all farms, will be demonstrated during the program.

A landing field for flying farmers has been provided for and will be supervised by Robert Straw, route one, Dixon. Other committee chairmen are: Ray Gilbert, grounds and exhibits; Robert Sheaffer and Charles Butterbaugh, parking; Dewey Kennay and Lloyd Bane, layout; Frank Scholl and Theodore Lord, facilities.

The program will start at 9:30 a. m. (CST) (10:30 Daylight Time). Plant foods will be applied according to test by different types of spreaders. Machinery companies will then demonstrate various implements used in seed bed preparation. Moldboard plows, disks, field cultivators and other tilling equipment are to be shown in operation.

Seeding mixtures will be discussed by Prof. J. C. Hackelman and seeding equipment put to use. Following this, the treated area will be partially fenced in a demonstration of post hole diggers.

A lunch stand will be operated on the grounds to accomodate all those in attendance.

Practical farmers in this livestock area who have improved their permanent pasture land have found that their net returns from land unsuitable for cultivation equal and often surpass land producing grain. This is accomplished by greater carrying capacity throughout the hot dry summer months and because there are no planting and harvesting costs involved once the pasture is established.

Form Seditious Group To Start Investigation

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29—(AP)—A legislative commission to investigate seditious activities in Illinois was formally organized today with State Senator Paul Broyles (R-Mt. Vernon) as its chairman.

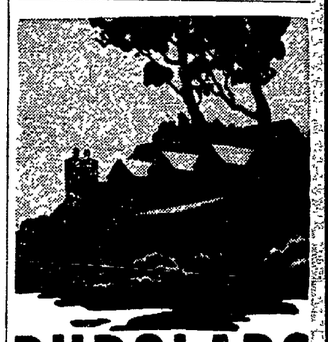

Broyles, who sponsored legislation creating the 15 member group, said the investigation should "avoid embarrassing any one unnecessarily."

Ten legislators and five public members make up the commission authorized to investigate organizations whose activities are suspected of being directed toward overthrow of the state or federal government. The Ku Klux Klan and similar organizations also will be investigated, and findings reported to the 1949 general assembly.

Officers named with Broyles were Rep. Clyde L. Choate (D-Jonesboro), vice chairman, and Norval D. Hodges, University of Illinois assistant legal counselor secretary.

Hodges suggested that FBI director J. Edgar Hoover be asked to provide any information he might have on subversive organizations in Illinois.

World Briefs

Toki, Aug. 29 —(AP)— The Japanese forestry products chemical association said today it had succeeded in making sugar from sawdust and a plant was being built south of Tokyo.

The agriculture and forestry ministry, confirming the report, said the sugar thus produced "is a little less sweet than cane sugar".

Tsingtao, China, Aug. 29 —(AP)— A small U. S. Marine landing party clashed with "hostile guerrilla groups" 50 miles north of Tsingtao last night while searching for a Marine pilot forced to land on a beach during bad weather Wednesday, the Navy announced today.

The announcement said the guerrillas, presumably communist, opened fire, which the American group returned. The Marines suffered no casualties and withdrew before determining guerrilla losses.

London, Aug. 29 —(AP)—Almost 25,000 Yorkshire coal miners, producers of well night 150,000 tons a week, were on strike from 13 pits today in protest against orders of the National Coal Board, which runs the mines for the government.

Their walkout yesterday came in the midst of the labor administration's drive for more coal to enable British industry to produce more goods for export and give the country dollars with which to buy food and other necessities abroad.

New Delhi, Aug. 29 —(AP)— Delni authorities imposed an 86-hour curfew on the city today a few hours after leaflets were distributed calling for a massacre on Sunday.

Thousands of refugees from the divided Punjab have poured into Delhi in recent weeks, bringing with them the ill feeling generated by Hindu-Sikh-Moslem fighting there.

Gibraltar, Aug. 29 —(AP)— Three British transports carrying 4,400 homeless Jewish refugees to the British zone of Germany departed again today for Hamburg.

The vessels put out yesterday but returned when one of them blew a boiler tube. The refugees, now in their 49th consecutive day aboard ship, sailed from France last month in the "Exodus 1947" in an effort to crack the British blockade and settle in Palestine, but failed and were returned to France.

They refused to disembark there and the British government decided they should be taken to the British zone of Germany. The voyage to Hamburg is expected to take about 10 days.

Linares, Spain, Aug. 29 —(AP) —Manuel Rodriguez, better known as Manolete, the leading matador of the bullfighting world, died early today of traumatic shock resulting from wounds suffered when he was gored by a bull in the Linares ring yesterday afternoon.

A Thought for Today

Let us choose to us judgment: let us know among ourselves what is good.—Job 34.4.

One man's word is no man's word; we should quietly hear both sides.—Goethe.

Publicity and Patriotism

The term "publicity build-up" is not ordinarily used in a complimentary sense. It is likely to call to mind an exaggerated fanfare for a new movie star or a new soap powder, or for some other person or commodity whose modest talents or properties scarcely warrant all the horn blowing and drum beating.

Nevertheless it must be admitted that Americans have developed the technique of the publicity build-up to a remarkable degree. And it is a pleasure to observe its smooth operation in such a good cause as the year's tour of the Freedom Train, which begins Sept. 17, and the Year of Rededication that coincides with it.

The Freedom Train began as an idea in the mind of Attorney General Tom Clark, who thought that a traveling exhibit of great American documents might help reawaken American youth to their responsibilities as citizens and curb the rise in juvenile delinquency. He invited the assistance of leaders of business, labor, education, the arts, and fraternal, patriotic, cultural and youth organizations.

The idea caught on and gained its present proportions. Mr. Clark's advisers formed the American Heritage Foundation. Then the publicity campaign got under way. Experienced promotion and exploitation men were called in. Heads of newspaper and magazine publishers' associations, of syndicates and radio networks made plans to co-ordinate their vast systems of communication.

One result of their efforts has already appeared in the form of a campaign book which goes to officials, newspapers, radio stations and civic and religious groups in every community where the Freedom Train will stop. And no disrespect to the preparations are as detailed and elaborate as they would be for the world premiere of a $5,000,000 movie.

The book contains detailed publicity and advertising suggestions. There is material for every department of a newspaper. There are plans for special events and for the cooperation of churches, schools, retail stores, motion picture exhibitors and so on.

The purpose of all this to make every one of us conscious of the responsibility as well as the privileges which are ours as inheritors of the legacy of American freedom.

This country's high tradition of democracy has been seriously challenged in the past six years, and is still challenged today. Every failure to live up to that tradition provides a little more ammunition for those who would discount or destroy it. There is a real need for most of us to try more actively and consciously to be good citizens and alert guardians of our heritage.

We have seen the power of publicity and propaganda in selling systems of government inimical to our own. Josef Goebels did a dismayingly good job of it with the German people. The tightly controlled Soviet press and radio are doing a good job in Russia today.

It would seem, then, that the time has come to sell the responsibilities of American citizenship with banners and with shouting from the housetops. And it seems to us a wise idea to use all of America's precise, well-oiled publicity machinery to do it.

As Pegler Sees It

New York, Aug. 29 — Garrett C. Wilcox, late private in the 240th M. P. Bn. Zone of Interior (special), the household guard of President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, eventually was transferred abroad to see the war. He reports that he came home a buck sergeant although at Hyde Park he had never been able to make Pfc. He had been suspected of breaking step deliberately to get a transfer, but he still insists that he had no sense of rhythm and couldn't help it. However, he did have moments when he reproached himself for sitting out the war on the estate of the Roosevelts and the neighboring acres of the old Vanderbilt and Rogers baronies. At such times it occurred to Pvt. Wilcox that a flat-bellied Yankee, 6 feet, two, healthy and strong, might better be licking his own height and weight in Germans or Japs and, anyway, seeing som war, than cutting shrubs with a brush-hook and throwing salutes to young officers who also might be better employed. There were 384 soldiers in the command, all there for the sole duty of guarding Roosevelt when he took a whim to go there, his family, his guests buildings, trees and his dog, Fala. No other president had ever been so precious as to need all this protection and change of scene to ease the stress of his duties. And thousands of other American civilians running the great war production jobs were getting much less rest and sleeping in uppers or reclining chairs, when they traveled on imperative business.

Inasmuch as he was putting in his time anyway, and with his future in abeyance, Pvt. Wilcox thought he ought to get close enough to the war to catch the echo of the grumble of a gun or the flicker of a bomb. He had two overcoats and a parka. The Hyde Park Coldstreams were elaborately dressed because it was their duty to look dressy.

There was a telephone exchange. Buck privates have to rely on hearsay and Pvt. Wilcox heard that this apparatus cost the people $120,000. If union workmen built it, that is conservative. The newspapers, incidentally, were in no better position to get information. Byron Price, the censor, and the War department forbade mention of the mere existence of the household guard. There were telephones and flood lights at short intervals along the boundaries. There were battalion motor and personnel officers, with a sergeant and a corporal each. There was a medical captain with five men. There were 20 jeeps, a dozen trucks for manning and relieving the posts, two weapons carriers, an improvised ambulance and a sedan for the major, and drivers and mechanics for all. All this, and the cost of ripping out and building in to improvise quarters and headquarters, was one man's tribute to his own importance.

Pvt. Wilcox seems to have been guilty of one overt political act. He wrote a sketch for a battalion entertainment entitled "Oh My Guard!" He believes it was rejected on political rather than esthetic grounds. However, I have read a small opus of his and "Oh My Guard!" could have been an artistic failure as well as an act of lese majeste. He isn't G. B. Shaw.

Still he wasn't transferred until one morning toward the dawn he fired a whole clip from his rifle while on his post.

Mr. Wilcox, formerly Pvt. Wilcox, states that he had earned a sharpshooter's badge in his basic training and, in his prewar years, had studied psychology. He was first suspected of designs on the life of his Commander-in-Chief, who was about half a mile away and in bed anyway. He insisted, however, that suicide was his purpose. And he says none of his superiors marvelled that a suicidal sharpshooter should fail to hit himself somewhere at least once in five shots at arm's length. He was transferred to psycho hospital, examined, says he, by 18 persons, including several Wacs, returned to duty and ordered overseas. Mr. Wilcox says that in no case would an authentic psycho be sent abroad. In Belgium, Mr. Wilcox says, he made Pfc in the 3287th Ordnance Co., got a battle star "which I didn't deserve because I wasn't in any battle" and, about the time he was to return home for discharge, after the war, was made sergeant by Lieut. Philip Schlau, of Brooklyn, who thought he deserved some amend for the blank time at Hyde Park. Mr. Wilcox explains that promotion was unusually slow at Hyde Park because the 240th M. P. Bn., Z. I. (special) was a sterile outfit imbued with the idea that this was a legitimate assignment involving no risk. Therefore it had a small turnover.

On Dec. 28, 1943, the soldiers of the Hyde Park Coldstreams who were not at that hour on guard were invited to the presence of the C-in-C in the library which he had already caused to be erected as a memorial to himself. Mr. Wilcox says he was gaunt and plainly unfit for his duties and was wheeled in by an orderly with Mrs. Roosevelt at his side. Mrs. Roosevelt took charge. Roosevelt was only recently back from Teheran and answered a few meaningless question which were sifted to him by his wife. There were no refreshments. Social life was bleak, but no worse than it was for enlisted men most places. Wilcox relates that there was unrest among the enlisted people when an invitation was issued for taffy pull, apple-ducking or similar debauch in the tradition of Eleanor the Great to which the officers were bidden to bring their "ladies" and the enlisted men their "wives".

"I hope it is no secret," he said, "that some of the bums that some of the officers bundled with were terrible tramps while many of the enlisted wives were ladies."

The specifications for the 240th M. P. Bn., Z. I. (special) were simply a minimum height of six feet and an I. Q. of 120. Mr. Wilcox never learned of any check on personal loyalty to Roosevelt.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate,)

Washington — Some national union leaders are working themselves up hotter in their campaign to repeal the Taft-Hartley law and are not trying to live by it. In his typical Chicago speech, AFL's Bill Green dared the Republicans to run Senator Taft for president, promising Taft the worst defeat in all presidentail history. Green said specifically there would be no "compromise" with the law by the unions. He promised complete repeal, or, as he phrased it, "the defeat" of the law.

A private survey of opinions among Green's own workers and others has been made by the Opinion Research corporation, Princeton, N. J., (Dr. Claude Robinson, president.) This survey challenges Green completely, and sets forth a pecular condition of worker's opinions under the title: "The Strange Case of The Taft-Hartley Bill". It is marked confidential and the condition it discovered has not been reported for public knowledge or belief, namely this:

The workers generally believe the bill is a slave labor bill, and an instrument of oppression. Yet paradoxically, the same workers generally approve the main features of the law when these are spelled out to them. The worker favors what is in the law but did not know the law contained what he wanted."

A representative sample-method poll of employees showed 54 per cent of all disapproved the law; 64 per cent of union members disapproved (meaning half of all workers, and two-thirds of the union members, roughly.) Opponents say such things as :"We fought for a free country, we should be allowed to strike for our rights", and "labor went back 50 pears under this bill". Forty-six per cent of all employees thought management would now try to bust the unions, 38 per cent expected management to bargain, fairly, while 16 per cent had no opinion.

But when these same pollees were asked specifically about what is really in the same law, a majority favored every feature of it. And a majority of the union membership alone favored every feature excepting one (outlawing or the closed shop, not realizing that the law approved the union shop.)

The survey gives the percentages of worker support for various features of the new law among the union members alone, as follows: Favor 60 day cooling; 70 per cent; suits against unions, 70; freedom of speech for employers 61; requiring union financial reports, 85; pronibit communist leaders, 77; prohibit union political contributions, 50; allow check-off only with workers consent, 74; allow union shop only with majority vote, 77; outlaw closed shop 48; delay strikes in public service industries, 70. The survey recommends to its clinets a management campaign to acquaint workers with the provisions of the bill. The poll claims further only 54 per cent of workers were able at the outset to name any specific provision of the law their leaders oppose.

Not the least surprising aspect of this news phenomena is specific evidence in the poll that the newspapers are mostly responsible for the uniformed condition of the worker — not the partisan periodicals of the union leaders. Seventy-eight (78 mind you) per cent of respondents said they received their knowledge of the bill from newspapers and magazines, 38 per cent from commentators and 22 per cent from general comment (some having more than one answer.) Only 10 per cent got their information from union newspapers, circulars, handbills and literature.

The newspapers carry speeches of union leaders like Green's and as these leaders are speaking and acting all the time in defiance of the law, their crescendo in the regular daily press has drowned out accurate knowledge of what the law says. The newspapers have fallen down on the reporting job completely, these figures suggest.

But if the figures are true, Green's speech is falsely grounded. The Opinion Research corporation does not pretend its figures are complete, but were done by fair sampling, yet they show such strong majorities as to indicate a possibility wrong national union policy. Certainly, someone should find out for sure.

If they are true, the union campaign of defiance of the law is on false ground. The leaders may be trying to repeal in entirety a law the provisions of which are all approved (save one) by a majority of the polled membership covered in this survey.

Then Senator Taft was not speaking blindly in his unsupported claim at Columbus that the union rank and file really favors his bill. Certainly this poll suggests union membership would, at the very least, favor it, if permitted a fair and reasonable knowledge of its provisions.

DOCTOR WOODWARD'S AMBITION

By Elizabeth Seifert

© by Elizabeth Seifert, Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC

THE STORY: Nancy Glenn gives a small dinner party for Andrew Woodward and his mother. Mrs. Woodward senses a subtle undercurrent between Andrew and Malcolm's wife. After they leave, she warns Andrew not to idly upset a peaceful home.

XIII

WORK progressed upon the orthopedic wing of the Lair; the carpenters' hammers rang incessantly, and cement mixers chugged. And with each hammer blow it became more urgent that the Hospital Directors and Staff select the man who would be Surgeon in Charge of the new unit. For this important job the man must be carefully selected. Whom could they get

One of the many discussions on the subject was taking place on a rainy morning in Pop's sitting room. Malcolm stood by the window, his brown eyes on the river. Pop sat in his usual place in his big chair.

Andrew Woodward lounged upon the cushions of the couch which stood against the inner wall, his red head back against the buff plaster, his face almost somnolent in his enjoyment of a pipe full of tobacco.

"I have a man I've been wanting to suggest," Malcolm was saying diffidently.

"Why not suggest him then?" asked Pop irritably. "We've considered everybody from Osler to your son Jerry. Who's your man?"

Malcolm turned, leaned against the window frame, his face somewhat shadowed. "He's a—friend," he said slowly. "His name is Barrett, and that won't mean a thing to you because he isn't famous. I was in medical school a class below him. He is—he always was—an especially gifted surgeon. But he's had the doggonedest luck of any man I've ever known." He glanced swiftly across at Andrew Woodward, crossed to a straight chair and sat down, his hands thrust deep into the pockets of his white duck trousers.

"Barrett has had a succession of bad breaks. He has never seemed able to get his feet firmly fixed upon the ladder of professional success. And he honestly deserves success. He's a splendid surgeon—it's wonderful, his cunning with spines. If I could help him—" He broke off, realizing the passion which had crept into his voice. He coughed slightly. "I'd not suggest a man, Doctor McAn, who would do less than good work for the Hospital."

"I'M sure you wouldn't, Malcolm," said Pop kindly. "Your recommendation should advance his name far with the Directors."

Malcolm flushed. "I can't tell you how much satisfaction I'd get out of helping George," he said tensely. "He's had a series of the darnedest breaks—"

Getting to his feet, Andrew Woodward crossed the room and knocked his pipe against the metal wastebasket at Pop's side. "The man we really should have," he said idly, "is Ivan Gregor."

Malcolm and Pop both turned, wide-eyed, to stare at him.

"Osler, and Jerry, and now Gregor," said Pop ironically. "What makes you think Gregor would accept a job at the Lair?"

Andrew straightened to his full height, deliberately stretching the muscles in his back and shoulders, then letting them relax. "What makes you think he wouldn't?"

"His reputation—"

"The Lair has a reputation, too."

"Gregor—" Pop shook his head, reached for a tissue. "He has some big stories told about him and his success. You're crazy even to suggest him, Woodward."

"Maybe," Andrew agreed good-naturedly, "but he's a surgeon. Almost any surgeon prefers hospital staff work to private practice."

"Yes, but not in one hospital. Not in a hospital set down in a college town. He wants to be on the staff of several city hospitals, with all their facilities and varieties of cases."

"Well, I'm not so sure," Andrew persisted, growing more interested in the cause he had picked up as one picks up a pin from the carpet. Until now he had not known that Glenn wanted his friend to have the Staff appointment. "The new wing will have the very latest things in equipment and the Medical School here is as fine as there is in the country. He'd have a free hand to develop his techniques, and teach them to young doctors. I think we would have a few arguments."

HE stood for a minute, smiling as if in deep thought, but was careful not to look at Malcolm. Then he smiled his dazzling, infectious smile. "And if Gregor would accept a call from us—why, the Lair couldn't consider anyone else." He strolled toward the door.

Malcolm had been watching Woodward with wonder, anger, suspicion chasing each other across his face. "What do you have against Barrett?" he asked now, roughly. Pop glanced at him with sharp eyes.

But Dr. Woodward was still smiling, still urbane. "I know nothing about your friend," he said quietly. "I just know Gregor would be the man for us, if we could get him." He opened the door, went out; the spring closed it quietly behind him.

Malcolm jerked to his feet, the chair teetering behind him.

"Easy does it, son," Pop advised.

Malcolm's lips drew back against his teeth. "It isn't the first time I've suspected him of trying to controvert me."

Pop only sighed.

Malcolm shook his head then, as if to clear his eyes. "Forget it, sir," he said contritely. "Maybe I'm just jealous of Woodward. He's a very good surgeon, and he certainly is popular. Sparking my nurse, too—"

Accessories Dispel Doldrums By Being Useful, Attractive

(By NEA Staff Service)

New accessories for the home aimed to dispel a household's end-of-summer doldrums, camouflage their functional uses with graceful decorative effects in plastic, rubber and glass.

Distinctive clear plastic trays, for example, in a Chippendale design make removable table tops for curved lucite luggage racks. When twinned, the tray and rack underscore party service in handsome style. Separated, the tray's light weight insures easy portage of dishes.

The rack, in clear plastic or rich jewel tones, belies its delicate look with a sturdy construction that is well able to take the weight of a guest's heavily laden suitcase. Off duty, it folds flat for space-hoarding storage

New Process

A new manufacturing process makes it possible to apply pebbled crinkled or diamond-shaped designs to acrylic resin surfaces. One salad bowl in clear crinkled lucite catches light like a sun-dappled mountain brook and adds fetching eye-appeal to crisp salad greens. Other accessories to benefit from this new development in pastic are boxes, trays and bathroom sets.

Capitalizing on the cool beauty of green foliage are new synthetic rubber coasters, precision molded in exact duplication of delicate galax leaves. The rubber leaves, which can keynote table decorations, trap glass moisture in the reidged veins that criss-cross their surfaces.

On the practical side, these coasters are promised not to oxidize, slide or mar furniture. And they take to soap and water dunkings without losing any of their verdant coloring.

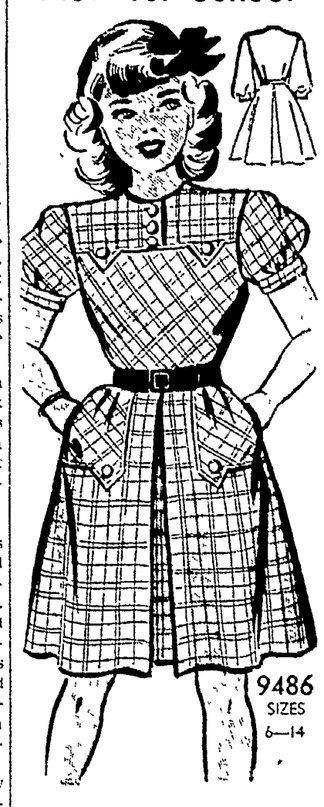

Decorative Doorknobs

Another festive note for a dinner party table is supplied by cube-shaped plastic place-card holders with full-blown roses ingeniously carved inside. These sparkling inch-square midgets come in sets with matching rose-decorated cards.

New doorknobs in brilliant crystal-clear plastic imprison carved flowers which take their color cues from nature. Interchangeable with standard doorknobs, these modern counterparts of antique French glass doorknobs, can be teamed with drawer pulls in matching designs.

Also worth noting for a household pick-me-up are French-imported trays and pictures which boast three dimensional designs of flowers, birds or fish. The unusual effect is created by painting overlapping parts of the design on separate sheets of glass and fitting glass layers together within a wooden frame.

Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood — (AP) — Louis B. Maye may be sorry he ever hired George Brent. The actor is giving other MGM stars, particularly Clark Gable, the wanderlust.

Brent has been saying that he will toss in the chips after his current picture and retire to Tahiti. To other actors, harassed by taxes and other inconvenences of the postwar world it sounded like a great scheme.

"That Brent has the right idea", Clark told me. "Why couldn't a guy do that?"

Yes, Gable is back and I was lucky to have him. In these days of limited production one is lucky to find any stars, and Gable, who still remains the king of Hollywood, makes it a double pleasure. I found him in the set of "Homecoming", dressed in an Army major's uniform and looking uncomfortable.

"You know, I have four months off between pictures", he said, "and that helps. But when it got to be two weeks before the start of this picture and I knew I had to go back to work, I started sweating".

The plain truth is that Clark, who is 46, doesn't want to work. "Every time I start talking about quitting, they (MGM) get excited. I told them when I came back from the Army I wanted to give up, but they wouldn't hear of it. They said to try working for a couple of years to see if I wouldn't like it".

Clark's deal with Metro is unique. It is long term ("I'll be an old man when it's over —51") and can be cancelled by him, but not by the studio. Since MGM won't permit its actors to share a percentage of picture profits, he can collect only a straight salary. "That way you can make just about as much as the ordinary guy", he said.

"I've been here 17 years and I haven't seen any of the outside world". Clark continued (He doesn't count the trips provided by courtesy of the U. S. Army.) "People will tell me I'd get tired of not working but I don't think so, not with so much I want to see. As for money, it doesn't take much groceries for one guy".

Clark, like Rhet Butler, just doesn't give a damn.

If you are one of the 56,000,000 people who are reportedly interested in learning to fly, Dick Powell is out after you.

Dick was chatting on the "Station West" set about the National Flight System, of which he is now president. As he puts it, the outfit will "place instruction on a mass distribution basis for the first time". He plans to have 400 regional representatives who will peddle a "flight package". This will begin with a six-month home study course to cover ground school subjects. Then the student will receive flight instruction, with discounts provided for plane rentals and purchases. The goal, says Dick dreamily, is a million students a year.

To remove tar, road oil or asphalt from rugs use cleaning fluid (a grease solvent). First remove all black possible with a dull knife. Then sponge with the cleaning fluid, using a light brushing motion.

At KSB Hospital

Admitted—Mrs. Carl Kanode, Franklin Grove; Sharon Welty, Erie; Mrs. Florence Anderson, Dixon.

Released—Mrs. Marie Phillips, Mrs. Hazel McNess, both of Dixon.

Births—To Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gehit, Franklin Grove, a boy, yesterday.

Vets Have Year to Ask for Leave Pay

Veterans still have a full year to apply for terminal leave pay, Albert Ruggles, Illinois Veterans Commission service officer in Lee county, announced today.

A new law enacted by Congress and signed by the President gives veterans or their dependents until Sept. 1, 1948 to make application. The law also gives an applicant the choice of cash payment or bonds maturing in five years.

The new law also authorizes the cashing of terminal leave bonds already issued. Banks and financial institutions empowered to cash postal saving stamps began cashing bonds on Sept. 1.

Application blanks and information or assistance in filing for terminal leave is available at the Lee county office of the commission, located at 105 East Second street.

United States Calls

cow agreement on Korea", the note said.

The agreement to which the vote refrerred was reached in connection with a meeting of the big three foreign ministers in Moscow in December, 1945. At that time it was agreed the United States and Russia should form a joint commission to unify Korea and that control should be exercised by the big four powers for five years after establishment of a stable native administration.

"The present stalemate in the joint commission negotiations and the failure of that commission to accomplish even the first task of its commission have made it abundantly clear to all that bilateral negotiations on the subject of consultation with Korean political parties and organizations will only serve to delay the implementation of this agreement and defeat its announced purpose of bringing about early independence for Korea".

The demand for a four-power conference follows two unsuccessful attempts to settle Korea's political future through bi-lateral talks. As it now stands, the country is divided with Russia occupying the northern half and the United States in charge in the south.

Copies of the note, signed by Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett, were sent to Britain and China.

With it went a summary of the United State proposals on Korea, urging:

1. Early election in both the Soviet and United States zones in Korea to choose "wholly representative" provisional legislators for each zone. Under the proposal, voting would be secret, multi-party ballot on a basis of universal suffrage.

2. The provisional zonal legislators then would choose representatives in numbers based upon the population in the two zones with these choices to constitute a national legislature to meet at Seoul to establish a provisional government for a United Korea.

3. That government would meet in Korea with representatives of the United States, Russia, Britain and China to discuss what steps are necessary to place Korean independence on a "firm economic and political foundation."

4. The United Nations would have power to supervise the zonal election and the forming of a central government, along with the talks upon long-range Korean independence.

5. The Korean provisional government and the big four powers would agree upon a date for withdrawal of all occupation forces.

6. The zonal legislature would be authorized to draft provisional constitutions to serve as a basis for a national charter.

7. Korea would be authorized to send observers to official international conferences.

Race Pilots Slow in Qualifying Attempts

Cleveland, Aug. 29 — (AP) — About three dozen race pilots looked nervously at the skies today and hoped the weather would remain clear during the few hours left to qualify for the weekend's speed program and $125,000 in prize money.

Despite repeated warnings that today's 5 p. m. deadline for qualifying flights would stand, more than half of the pilots failed to run the rectangular, pylon-marked courses during the first four days. Now overcast skies could complicate the preliminaries of the national air races.

Fourteen of the 25 planes on hand for the $40,000 300-mile Thompson trophy classic still must try for a place among the fastest 12 which will start Monday afternoon.

None of the eight who turned the 15-mile course yesterday came close to the 390.9 MPH average recorded by Paul Penrose of North Hollywood, Calif., on Wednesday.

Seven women are scheduled to try to qualify today, although lack of time indicated it was unlikely all would. Only the fastest eight of the 13 entries will start in the $5,000 race at 75 miles around a 15-mile course.

May and his wife, Lulu, both 22, had been visiting in Colorado but left Wednesday en route to Alexandria where May's father is general manager of a bus company.

Ebsenburg, Pa., Aug. 29—(AP)—James E. Fisher, 20, says he is prepared to renounce his American citizenship in order to marry the German girl he met while serving with the U. S. Army ordnance unit at Munich.

Fisher, who appeared yesterday before Notary John L. Hite for a passport, said the girl, Erika Wagner, and her parents helped nurse him back to health when he became ill in Germany.

Fisher told Hite he plans to seek a civilian position with the U. S. Army occupation forces in Germany. Hite forwarded his passport request to the state department for final action.

Miami Beach, Fla., Aug. 29—(AP)—Virginia Hill's swank home on Sunset Island No. 1 was shuttered today and the 31-year-old girl friend of slain gambler Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel had left for an undisclosed destination. She reportedly was "broke."

Miss Hill, who arrived here from Paris on Aug. 9, was discharged from St. Francis hospital yesterday after being hospitalized a week. Chief of Detectives Charles W. Pierce said she had taken an overdose of sleeping pills in an attempt at suicide.

One report said she was going to Pensacola to visit a brother. Another report said the party was headed for North Carolina.

Burlingame, Calif., Aug. 29 —(AP)— Frances (Peaches) Heenan Browning Tynes Civelli Willson son is suing for divorce from Husband No. 4. while his annulment suit still is pending and while husband No. is is suing Peaces for divorce.

In her complaint, filed in San Mateo county Superior court, the former girl bride of Edward W. (Daddy) Browning asks a divorce from Ralph Norman Willson. She married Willson, of Columbus, O., in Reno in 1946.

Los Angeles, Aug. 29 —(AP)—Lynn Barl is the "bread winner" in the family she says, and her husband, producer Michael Luft, has claimed much of her separate property, the actress charged in an amended divorce complaint filed yesterday.

Miss Bari alleged that, after their marriage in November, 1943 she acquired considerable property and that Luft persuaded her to place it in their joint names. She asked the court to award her title to the holdings. Her original suit charged cruelty.

North Adams, Mass., Aug. 29 —(AP)— The arrival of twin boys boys at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Lescarbeau increased their brood to 16 in 18 years, and, incidentally, their housing problem.

The twins were the second set in the family in six years. The ages of the other children range from two to 17.

Mrs. Lescarbeau said it would be a problem finding room accomodations for the new arrivals in their six-room tenement. But wasn't a bit discouraged. She said she hoped they'd have more.

Kansas City, Kas., Aug. 29 —(AP)— More than 30 years ago Fred Haynes, a railroad man, befriended a young woman immigrant from Austria by helping her with financial problems in a restaurant she operated.

Today Haynes had an $18,000 legacy because of his "loyal friendship and services".

Mrs. Katy Grisnik, the immigrant, made out a will leaving Haynes $18,000 last Sunday. She died Tuesday at the age of 52.

Haynes, now a deputy in the county clerk's office, said he was an early customer in Mrs. Grisnik's restaurant and helped her with tax and banking problems since she could not read or write English.

mobilization," Forrestal said.

Our international aims, he said, are to conclude peace treaties as soon as possible, strengthen the United Nations, and "secure for the world a stability that will enable men to address themselves to their daily tasks without the overhanging shadow and fear of war."

Truman Takes Same View

President Truman, in a message read to the delegates, said the nation "must have the certainty of total defense" and "only universal military training can assure that sufficient forces will be available in the critical phase of another emergency."

"In a world where chaos still exists and war remains a dread possibility," the president said, "The cost of our security will remain high for some time to come. We must be so strong that no aggressor, however rash, can persuade himself that we are open to conquest."

Dewey, who may seek the Republican presidential nomination next year, had stated similar views before the Madison Square Garden gathering.

Baruch Sends Message

From Bernard M. Baruch, adviser to presidents, came another plea for peacetime conscription. Explaining he could not leave Saratoga Springs, N. Y., because of work he is doing on a program of veterans' assistance, Baruch sent a message to the dinner given last night by Paul H. Griffith, national commander of the Legion, for distinguised guests.

"I agree with the Legion's stand on universal service, but to be effective and not waste precious time and perhaps the lives of young men, training must be accompanied by a mobolization of America—military, economic and spiritual," Baruch said.

school more appealing to the youngsters.

Among courses assuming a larger role in classrooms is instruction in traffic rules and regulations. Students are learning to drive automobiles— brand new models.

A new state law enacted this year makes it mandatory for courses in traffic rules and regulations to be taught in grades one through nine.

Emphasis on Traffic

Vernon L. Nickell, state school superintendent, said in an interview that his office is revamping a guide in safety education with particular emphasis on traffic.

A supplement will be prepared later taking the legal kinks out of Illinois traffic stautes and putting them in language the pupils can easily understand.

Nickell said his office was encouraging driver training courses which already are being tanght in some high schools. This fall, 56 high schools will give actual courses in behind-the-wheel training.

Vocational education programs are finding their way into more junior and senior high schools. The boys—and girls, too—learn about the intricacies of electrical appliances, woodwork, and putter around in machine shops. Home economics instruction also is becoming more popular.

Baby Slayer Gets Life Prison Term

Chicago, Aug. 29 — (AP) — Joseph Bortnyak, a twice-convicted sex offender was under sentence of life imprisonment today for the strangulation murder July 30 of three-year-old Charles Bradley whose nude body was found under a porch near his home.

A criminal court jury returned the verdict of guilty with the life term penalty last night after hearing Bortnyak, 27-year-old factory worker, testify that he carried the child from his bed and "hugged and might have killed him."

"I love little children," Bortnyak tearfully told the jury of eight women and four men yesterday. He said that on the night of July 30 he drank 10 bottles of beer, some wine and whiskey.

Then, he testified, he kept "walking and walking" and fighting an urge "to take a child" until he saw a porch light at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bradley.

"I didn't know who was in there or what was in there. I was in this room. I wanted to hold something in my arms."

In asking the death penalty, the state charged that Bortnyak kidnaped the sleeping child from his crib and strangled him.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley said they were satisfied with the verdict. Charles was their only child.

to use fast neutrons. Other chain reactors at other Atomic Energy Commission installations utilize slow neutrons".

Fast neutrons are produced in the explosion of an atomic bomb, but physicists had only a limited opportunity to study these high-speed nuclear bullets during the New Mexico bomb explosion.

In other chain reacting piles employing uranium, the neutrons produced by the "splitting" of atoms are slowed down before they themselves cause the spliting of other atoms to maintain the chain. The deliberate slowing gives the neutrons a better chance to stick in the nucleus of a uranium atom. It is accomplished by mixing some other substance — such as graphite or water — with the nuclear fuel.

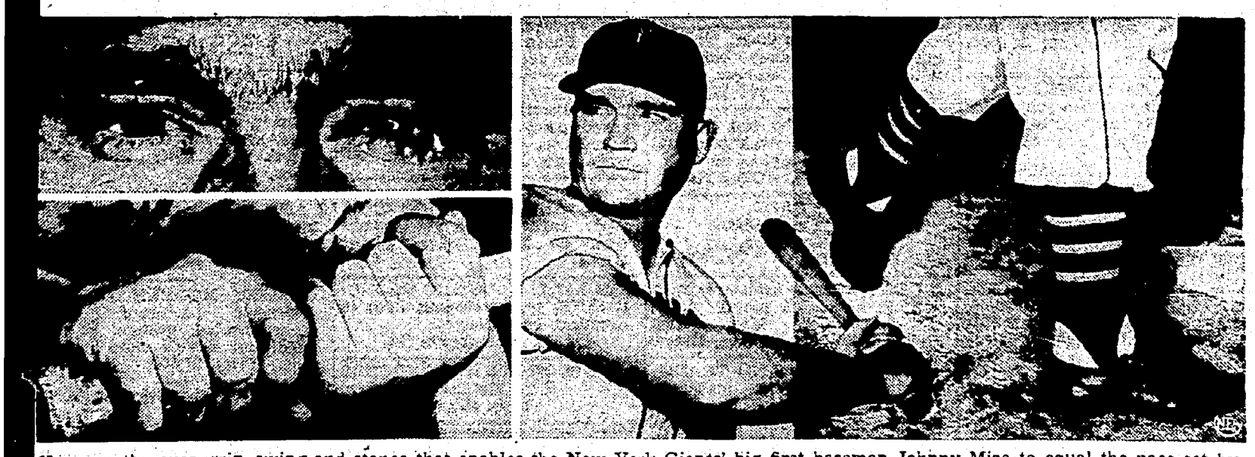

But the Los Alamos reactor uses no such diluting material, and thus shares with the atomic bomb the property of using the neutrons from fission almost as soon as they are emptied.

DETWEILER DISTRICT GOLF CHAMP

Here are the eyes, grip, swing and stance that enables the New York Giants' big first baseman Johnny Mize to equal the pace set by Babe Ruth in establishing his major-league home-run record of 60 in 1927. But the old Sultan of Swat manufactured 17 in September.

Takes Title in Playoff With Lamb

Ken Detweiler, president of the Dixon District Golf association added to his 1947 success yesterday afternoon by defeating Jim Lamb of Oregon in a one-hole playoff to capture the first annual association championship at the Country club.

The chunky Lincoln Highway champ toured the C. C. layout in 69 strokes to wind up with a 142 and tie Lamb, Northwestern U. swinger. Lamb took a 72 to lose his three-stroke advantage of Wednesday over the Dixon golfer.

On the extra hole, Detweiler quickly popped in a birdie, finishing with a four to Lamb's five.

Other winners were Bob Buck of Polo (Class A); Mel Cook of Dixon (Class B); Herb McDonnell of Prairieview (Class C) and Leo Wilson of Prairieview (Class D).

Buck Cards 76

Buck posted a 76 to go with his 71 at Plum Hollow, which was good enough to beat out a fellow Poloan, Doc Markle, by three strokes.

Cook turned back Don Gigous of Oregon by shooting a 75 while McDonnell came in with a 77, three strokes better than Ev Hannan and Fred Chiverton of Dixon. Wilson was almost unopposed in Class D play as only two others competed.

Detweiler, a state quarter-finalist, previously won the Lincoln Highway at Kishwaukee, busting a flock of records in the process. He was eluded in a bid for the city title a second straight time by Frank Lessner. Lessner was ill and unable to play in the DDGA meet.

Banquet Closes Day

A banquet at 8 p. m. yesterday at the Country club capped the tournament, pronounced an unqualified success. Flight winners received their individual prizes at the fete, handsome traveling trophies going into possession of the golfers' home clubs.

Most linksmen found the Country club course rough going, scores zooming up as much as 10 strokes over Wednesday's play at Plum Hollow.

Newhouser Talks Back; Fined $250

Detroit, Aug. 29—(AP) — Hal Newhouser, the Detroit Tigers' "problem child" of a half dozen years ago who outgrew a surly temperament to become the top lefthanded pitcher in baseball, was back in the doghouse today following a new "incident" that cost the blond southpaw a $250 fine from Manager Steve O'Neill.

O'Neill, charging his $60,000 star with "indifference" as the Boston Red Sox combed him for seven hits and five runs in a single inning yesterday enroute to a 13 to 3 triumph over the Tigers, levied the fine when Newhouser flared up and balked at being removed from the game in the third inning.

"I don't know what got into him," O'Neill declared. "He simply wasn't going to leave the game and I had to go out there and take the ball away from him and make him go to the dugout.

"When Hal argued about it there wasn't anything left for me to do but fine him. It's the first time I've fined a player since I came to Detroit as manager in 1943, but it won't be the last. Believe me, there's going to be more of this if these fellows aren't in there hustling like I know they should."

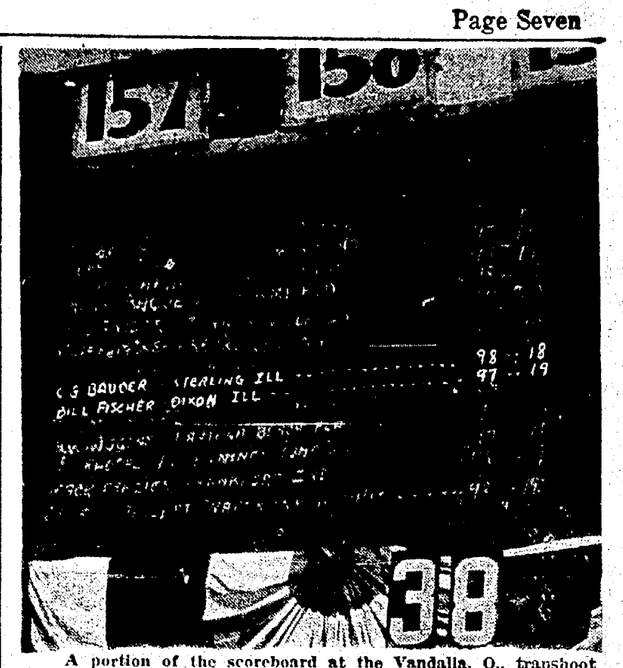

Stan Hack Gets "Day" Tomorrow

Chicago, Aug. 29 —(AP)— Smiling Stanley Hack, machine-like fielding third baseman with the Chicago Cubs, will have his day tomorrow.

The 38-year-old Hack, rounding out 16 years with the Cubs, will be honored by admiring Chicago fans — Cubs, and White Sox alike — at Wrigley field in ceremonies before the start of the Cubs - Pittsburgh game. He will be presented with a 1947 automobile and showered with other gifts purchased with funds raised through radio and newspaper appeal.

A 11-year-old admirer mailed his contribution of ten cents with this note: "I like Stan Hack—but I'm a White Sox fan."

Hack, whose playing ability, temperament and sportsmanship have endeared him to the Cubs fans, has a lifetime .300 plus batting average. He needs to pay in only seven more games to tie the National league record of most games played by a third baseman, now held by Pie Traynor, formerly of the Pirates.

A portion of the scoreboard at the Vandalia, O., trapshoot carnival last week (above) contains the names and scores of Bill Fischer of Dixon and C. G. Bauder of Sterling. Fischer was near the top with his 97 in the Grand American handicap as the winner posted a 99.

VFW Winds Up Its Loop Slate Tonight

VFW becomes the first airport league club to complete its 14-game schedule this evening when "Jiggs" McIntire's boys go in quest of their seventh victory against Freeman's (6-5) at 7:30 p. m.

Paul Van Oosten, who hurled a magnificent two-hitter in throttling Lakeshire - Marty with 12 strikeouts Wednesday, goes to the hillock for the Vets.

A victory will enable VFW to finish with an even-stephen record of seven and seven.

Three Deuces Vs. Lakeshire

Freeman's currently occupy half of third place with Barrick Steers. "Red" Vivian is Mgr. Glenn Gilmore's probable mound selection.

The nightcap attraction pairs Three Deuces (4-8) and Lakeshire - Marty (5-6).

Three Deuces has been in the throes of a long losing streak while Lakeshire-Marty has been winning consistently. Their only loss recently was to VFW Wednesday in a game they kicked away by committing six bobbles.

Joe Curlee is to pitch for the Deuces opposite Mgr. Gus Martini.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

BATTING, JOHNNY MIZE, GIANTS—Slammed his 44th home run and a double to drive in four runs and lead the Giants to a 6-5 victory over the Cardinals.

PITCHING, CLYDE SHOUN, BRAVES—Held the Reds to four hits and no runs in 10 innings of relief to gain credit for 8-7, 10-inning victory.

Bobtales

By BOB FALLSTROM

The 1947 Dixon Dukes' grid entry in the North Central Illinois conference sweepstakes will be managed by a half-pint sophomore, Gene Hill.

Hill isn't very big but he's handling the tough manager's job in varsity style.

Gene McNamara, rumored for the basketball coachship of Coss Dairy, says he refused an offer to pilot the club.

Gene insisted on an influx of new and better players, so the story goes, before he would consent to tackle the piloting job.

He played as a member of Knacks last winter.

Apologies to Maurice Ortgiesen and Bill Lafferty, who were erroneously identified in a football yarn the other eve. Ortgiesen is a senior and Lafferty a freshie.

Mickey McMillion is suffering from a bum left leg that has upset his golf game and made future track participation doubtful.

A track injury to his knee has almost numbed the entire limb, making sports of any type a painful undertaking.

Mendota Athletic Director Lloyd Doenier writes he is seeking a game, preferably away from home, Sept. 26 to replace the DePue cancellation.

DePue quit football last spring, opening up a hole in several schedules. Athletic Director A. C. Bowers is still in search of an Oct. 3 tussle to replace the voided contest.

Tim Sullivan ruled over the score sheets at the Dixon District Golf association tourney with his customary efficiency. Tim compiled a long string of successive years as Lincoln Highway scorer until this summer, when he missed the DeKalb Kishwaukee play.

The DePue Boat club puts on its 17th annual homecoming program and outboard racing regatta this weekend. This well-known show opens Saturday night, continuing through Labor Day. On Sunday, the feature attraction is the American Power-Boat association regatta, worth $950.

Frank Neylon, former coach at Franklin Grove, has departed for the sunny state of Florida and a coaching berth there. According to present indications, Principal Roy Dillon may have to serve as Franklin's coach since a replacement for Neylon has not been secured.

Bill Smith, a Princetonite and DeKalb Teachers grad this year, has signed to coach sports at Buda high school. Smith made quite a name for himself in prep and college competition.

Mize's No. 44 Hurts Slumping Redbirds

(By The Associated Press)

Johnny Mize definitely is aiming his big bat at Babe Ruth's home run record of 60 and if the Brooklyn Dodgers or St. Louis Cardinals get in the way, it will be just too bad.

Mize has 44 to his credit counting his circuit clout yesterday which enabled the Giants to defeat the Cardinals for the second straight time 6-5 and plummet the Redbirds down to seven games in back of the Dodgers. He needs 17 more to establish a new mark.

Mize currently is five games ahead of the pace Ruth set in his record breaking 1927 season.

The Dodgers gained a full game on the Redbirds by defeating the Cubs 6-2 at Ebbets field. They finished off Hank Wyse with four runs in the first inning and went on to win their first game from the Cubs in their last five meetings. Johnny Jorgensen, back at third base for the Brooks after a week's rest, drove in three of the runs with a bases-loaded double.

MIZE VS. RUTH

(By The Associated Press)

	Homer	Game	Date
Johnny Mize..	44	123	Aug. 28, 1947
Babe Ruth....	44	128	Sept. 2, 1927

(Ruth's 45th homer was hit in his 132nd game, Sept. 6, 1927, the year he set the record of 60).

Sheffield Wins Airport Shoot

Art Sheffield won the airport trapshoot last eve by breaking 24 of 25 birds at 16 yards. Al Seloover and Harry Fischer deadlocked for second with 46 hits in 50 tries.

Holding down third place was Everett Smith of Mt. Morris and Howard Biesecker of Franklin Grove. Smith had 91 hits in 100 shots while Biesecker compiled 68 hits in 75 tries.

Bill Fischer was fourth with 45 of 50 and Marian Unger fifth with 44 of 50.

Toot Bauder of Sterling captured handicap honors with 23 hits in 25 shots as Al Ostrander finished second with 21 hits.

Next Thursday's shoot begins at 5:30 p. m. sharp on account of earlier darkness.

Lee Center Girls Drop From Field

Champaign, Aug. 29.—(Special) —Lee Center's girls team won its opening Farm Sports Festival softball game from Kane county, 9-5, yesterday morning but then was eliminated by Peoria, 6-4.

Peoria continued on into today's finals by beating Lee Center and was to have opposed DeKalb for the crown at 10:30 a. m.

Lee county's other representative here, the Nelson Knockouts 4-H team, lost to DeKalb, 16-4, in Division C play. DeKalb is playing Jackson county today for the division title.

Robinson Benefit Bout This Evening

New York, Aug. 29—(AP) — Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson takes on Flashy Sebastian, billed as the welterweight champion of the Orient tonight in a Madison Square Garden fight in which themanagement won't have to worry about empty seats.

Almost certain to be the best of a dull August schedule of ring fare here, it is being put on for the sole benefit of visiting American Legionnaires here for their national convention. Admission will be by tickets from coupon books provided the guests for a number of sports events around town.

A commercial sponsor is underwriting the entire program, including the $5,000 purse Robinson will donate to the family of the late Jimmy Doyle, Los Angeles fighter who died after a bout with Robinson in Cleveland several months ago.

The ten-round go is a non-title affair.

CAMPAIGN TO EXTERMINATE PRE-SEASON GUNPLAY BEGUN

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—A campaign to stop pre-season game shooting has been started by conservation officers throughout Illinois, Director Livingston E. Osborne of the state conservation department reports.

"This warning is issued in the hope that hunters will be good sportsmen and not be guilty of pre-season shooting, so that arrests will not have to be made," Osborne said. "Maximum fines will be recommended in all cases."

DOWN MEMORY LANE

"Real" Fete of 1914 Hardly Publicized

By BOB FALLSTROM

"Bus" Egler of Knacks propelled four home runs beyond the confines of Reynolds field Aug. 17 but all came in different innings.

Digging through "Mike" Monahan's voluminous scrapbook covering local baseball doings from 1909-1914, we've found a slugging record that even Egler hasn't been able to match.

On Sept. 5, 1914, Third Baseman Real of the Sterling West Ends smashed two homers in an awful 11-run eighth inning outburst as the Dixon Brunswicks bowed 20-2.

Monahan's clipping of the batting spree doesn't go into much detail on Real's fete, obviously unrecognized in its magnitude. How many times can you recall of a player hitting two homers in one inning? It's just as rare, even more rare, than four circuit clouts in nine innings.

Most of the account of the massacre is devoted to Dixon mistakes and weird plays. Once the Brunswicks slammed three consecutive hits, one of 'em a two-bagger, but failed to score. Another time a double play was pulled by Sterling on Haley's clean single into left.

The news story ends: "Enough —call the next case."

Playing for the Brunswicks at Sterling that memorable day was F. Curran cf-2b; Vaile 1b-c; Duffy 3b; Buckley 2b-cf-1b; Lightner p; Hogan ss; Woodyatt lf; Lenox c; Barry cf and Haley rf.

BOWLING ASSN. MEETING AT 8 O'CLOCK THIS EVE

Local keglers congregate at the Recreation this evening for the annual Dixon Bowling association meeting at 8 o'clock.

Election of officers and other matters of business are on the agenda.

REVERSE TREATMENT?

The sting of a bee is acid, while the sting of a wasp is alkaline; hence, use alkaline treatment on the bee sting, and acid on the sting of a wasp.

CORRECTION

The Sunday softball twin-bill pairing A & H Insurance of Oregon and the Dixon Brown Bombers and Grand Detour Merchants vs. Stillman Valley Merchants will be played in Grand Detour and NOT Oregon as was announced in last evening's edition.

Scrimmage Held Under Arc Lights

Coach Marvin Winger last night paced the 1947 football edition of Dixon high school through its second successive session of impromptu contact work.

A long scrimmage drill under the arc lights followed normal exercise, blocking and tackling workouts.

Unrehearsed plays were sprung on a defensive alignment, mostly composed of the team's biggest and bulkiest squadmen.

One of the season's first casualties, albeit a minor one, cropped up preceding the workout, when Stan Fish, used as a quarterback the preceding night, reported with a sore foot caused by stepping on a tack.

Another drill is scheduled this evening and then still another has been called for tomorrow morning. Practice then resumes on the first day of school, Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Tennis Banquet at Rockford Sept. 20

Saturday, Sept. 20 has been announced as the date of the annual Rock River Valley Tennis league banquet.

Rockford will be the scene of the gathering of all loop teams, including Dixon, 1947 champion.

Charles Hare and a troupe of Chicago players have been tentatively lined up to present singles and doubles matches in the afternoon, the banquet following that night.

HEADS POULTRY GROUP

Clemson, S. C., Aug. 29—(AP)—H. M. Scott of the University of Illinois was elected first vice president yesterday of the Poultry Science association. The organization's 36th annual meeting was closed yesterday.

U. S., Britain Plan Level of Industry for Western Reich

Berlin, Aug. 29 — (AP) — A western Germany with an industrial capacity about equal to 1936 was envisaged today by the United States and Great Britain in a new level-of-industry plan providing for annual steel production of 10,700,000 ingot tons.

Under the plan, the U. S. and British zones, to relieve the burden on American and British taxpayers, would produce 15 per cent more exports than the same areas did in 1936—three years before Germany started World War II—to bring in $2,000,000,000 a year.

The new plan was a revision of the four-power level-of-industry and reparations agreement of 1946. In announcing it, the U. S. and British military governors—Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Air Chief Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas—termed the low ceiling set in that agreement "unrealistic."

Under the four-power plan, the steel ceiling for all Germany was 5,800,000 tons. Under the British-American plan, the British and U. S. war zones alone would produce nearly double that.

Disclosure of the plan followed by two days the close of a six-day conference of the representatives of U. S., Britain and France in London during which German industry was discussed.

French, Russians Object

In that conference, the French voiced objections to the plan based on their fears of a Germany with renewed power for warmaking. Before the conference, Russia protested that leaving her out of the talks violated the 1945 Potsdam agreement.

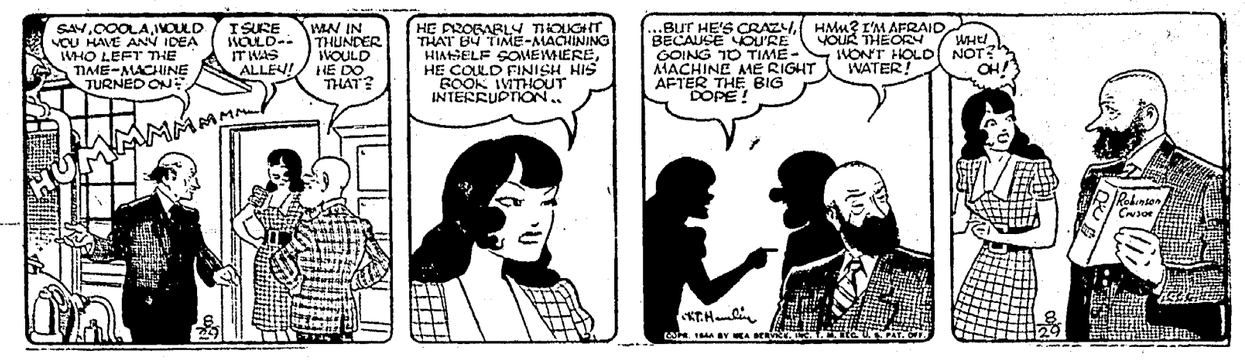

The Clay-Douglas announcement set no specific ceiling for steel capacity to be retained in the U. S. and British zones, but it was reported reliably that this would be about 11,500,000 tons a year.

Steel capacity remaining in western Germany after war damage is 19,200,000 tons. Thus, a capacity of about 7,000,000 tons would still be available for reparations.

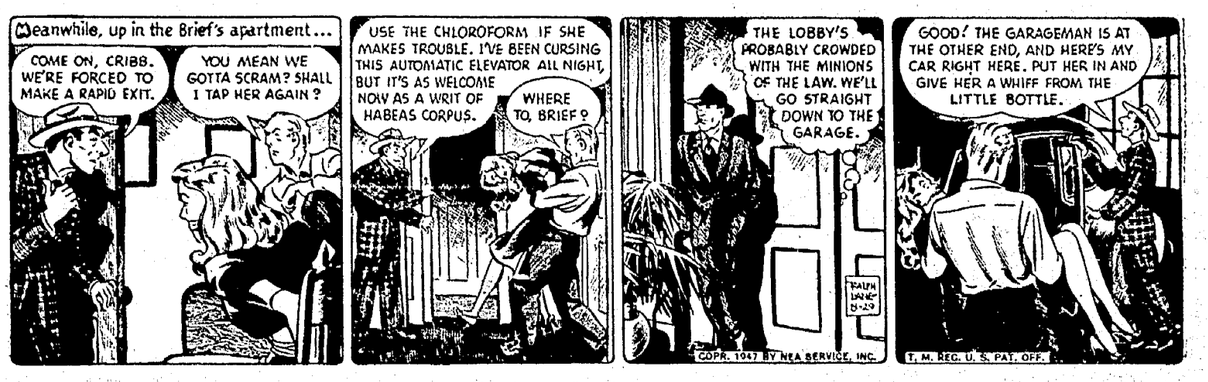

The announcement stated that a higher production ceiling was necessary to permit the economically-merged bizonal area to regain economic health and to allow Germany to "contribute her indispensable part to the economic rehabilitation of Europe as a whole."

The U. S. and Britain merged their occupation zones for economic purposes last Jan. 1 but have been unsuccessful in efforts to get Russia and France to join them.

Hawaiian Welcome Complete With Leis Given Local Group

Telegraph Publisher, in Letter, Describes Tropic Beauty

Mabel S. Shaw, publisher of the Evening Telegraph, who has been on an extended trip to the Hawaiian Islands by air and to Alaska by boat has written her family in Dixon some interesting letters, discriptive of the places she has visited and some of them will be published in these columns. Letter No. 1 follows:

Thursday, July 10th, upon arrival on Pan American plane, carrying 44 people from Los Angeles to Honolulu, we motored 13 miles to the Royal Hawaiian Hotel. We were met at the airport by Grace Warren, daughter, Kathryn and her husband Bob, Mr. Wilson, mayor of Honolulu, and Mrs. Roy were there with cars. Our party of 9 were presented with beautiful leis. Breakfast at 10 was served at the Royal, a beautiful outdoor dining room, and this is what we looked out upon — a vivid Hawaiian blue sky, which reflected its lovely color in the water, making it even more blue against the white caps as the waves rolled toward the famous sandy beach fringed by gently waving palms. Another look reveals a half-dozen surf riders. Many times are they swallowed up by the giant waves. They reappear and reappear finally making a happy and erfect landing on the beach — all so exciting to the onlucker. Luncheon was at one, but I did not partake — too soon after breakfast.

Mr. Wilson had told me his car and chauffeur were at our disposal, so at 2 p. m. we started for a drive. Mrs. Hoy also came, taking over our entire party of nine. Mrs. Warren was with Myrtle Walgreen, Jane Peterson and myself in Mr. Wilson's car. Grace Warren is such a wonderful guide with full knowledge of what she is talking about. She was a valuable asset and we learned much. Grace took us to her home for a delicious cold drink of fruit juice. We went on a drive of many miles through the mountains, all are dressed in vegetation of many hues of green and everywhere you see beautiful flowers. During the drive there were several showers and several glorious rainbows.

Dinner at 7 — a delicious one, nice Hawaiian music, a hula dancer to Hawaiian melodies and then up to our rooms at 10 and lights out at midnight, thus ended another perfect day.

Nipper, Dog With Joe Louis Ideas, Led Colorful Life

Scottie Took On Comers Of All Sizes Before Dying By Poison

By ARTHUR EDSON
(For Hal Boyle)

Washington —(AP)— This is the story of a dog who thought he was Joe Louis.

His name was Nipper, and he was a black scottie.

All scotties have delusions of grandeur. Nippers delusion was that no dog in the world was quite so tough as he was.

Lady dogs Nipper gallantly ignored, but as far as I know, he never passed another male without a growl.

We used to load the kids in their wagon, and stroll to the store for groceries.

For awhile, after we first got Nipper, it was painful. Almost every house had a dog, which meant every shopping trip was a continuous dog fight.

But things quieted down at last —when Nipper had them all either licked or buffaloed.

Obviously, though, a dog no bigger than a scottie won't win every fight.

Doggy Idea

So Nipper hit on a doggy idea. A Boston bull, an obnoxious creature with a horrible wheeze, lived across the street. This creature couldn't fight a lick.

As an aviator who cracks up renews his courage by immediately climbing into another plane, so Nipper kept his fighting ego.

When he lost a fight, he hastened home and practiced on the unfortunate Boston.

Once, when grocerying, a near tragedy happened.

Nipper was so busy showing off he didn't notice the street car. He was hit, and was rolled over and over beneath the car, all the way to the end.

There was an awful moment while he lay there stunned. Then he got up, shook himself groggily — and lit out.

"He's gone home to die!" cried my wife, who had read too much romantic literature.

He hadn't. He had just gone back to lick the daylights out of the Boston bull.

Inevitable Happens

Of course, the inevitable happened. One of the hounds of the Baskerville moved into the neighborhood.

He was a huge creature, with a steamshovel for jaws. Yet for all his bulk, he was mild mannered. I think he was as embarrassed at Nipper's tactics as we were.

For every couple of months or so Nipper would choose him. The routine never varied. Baskie would put up with it for awhile, and then, resignedly, he would roll, Nipper over on his back and slice him where his hair was short.

We'd take Nipper to the vet's to be sewn up, he'd whip the Boston while he was recuperating, and we would all wait for the next attack.

I suppose this silly business would be going on yet. But Nipper died at the dirty hand of a dog poisoner. The real shock of his death was that, with his habits, he should live so long.

If there's a dog heaven, I hope there are lots of dogs ready, willing, even eager, to mix it.

Otherwise, I'm sure it isn't heaven for the dog who thought he was Joe Louis.
